As we reflect on another year of our commitment to providing the very best services and programs, it’s impossible to ignore just how much can happen in 12 months.

We completed the sale of our legacy Haddonfield Campus and began construction on the Bancroft Campus at Mount Laurel, the future site of The Bancroft School and Lindens Center for Autism. More than 300 yards of cement have been poured, 1,177 beams and columns have been erected and the school, activity center and student residences are taking shape. In one year, students and staff will begin their transition to this incredible space, designed specifically to meet the special needs of children and young adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities and autism, as well as their families.

The new campus was not our only focus this year. In fact, we added several new adult group homes, formed Marcroft Medical Associates and began treating and caring for children at CHOP, Nemours and other hospitals and facilities. Bancroft NeuroRehab, our brain injury rehabilitation treatment line, also grew this year through the acquisition of Independence Rehab, a facility in Cherry Hill, to enable the treatment of a more acute patient base.

As I anticipate the year ahead, I am confident we are honoring the legacy Margaret Bancroft began 134 years ago. I am so proud of what we have accomplished and the work we continue to do.

Of course, we cannot do it alone. We thank our 2,500 dedicated employees and a host of community partners, state and community agencies, school districts, insurers, healthcare partners and generous donors who continue to support One World for Everyone.

With your ongoing support, we have laid the foundation for an exciting and prosperous future at Bancroft. The best is yet to come!

BANCROFT LAUNCHES ONE CAN CHANGE THE WORLD CAMPAIGN

January 2016

In January, Bancroft donors and friends proved that ONE Can Change the World as the organization launched the campaign for the new Bancroft Campus at Mount Laurel. More than one hundred guests gathered at the Union League in Philadelphia and gained an exclusive look at the new campus plans. To date, Bancroft has raised more than $7 million towards its $12 million goal.

SALEM HEALTH AND WELLNESS FOUNDATION FUNDS NEW LAKESIDE MEDICAL CENTER

January 2016

A nearly $200,000 gift from the Salem Health and Wellness Foundation enabled Bancroft to build a new Health and Wellness center at its Lakeside campus in Pittsgrove, N.J. The facility, which was completed in the spring and includes specialties such as primary care, neurology, psychiatry, phlebotomy, podiatry, and dentistry, brings medical specialists together under one roof. The site also serves as a desensitization and teaching facility where residents can learn to receive medical care.

BANCROFT BRINGS BEHAVIORAL HEALTH EXPERTISE TO HOSPITALS

March 2016

In the spring, Bancroft launched its Healthcare Solutions program, which enables expert clinicians in Applied Behavior Analysis to report on-site to partnering hospitals when an individual is unable to receive necessary medical care due to an intellectual or developmental disability. The unique program also promotes successful hospital discharge and can decrease the incidence of hospital readmissions, at a cost savings for the patient and hospital system.
BANCROFT NEUROREHAB ACQUIRES
CHERRY HILL FACILITY
April 2016

Bancroft NeuroRehab grew to four facilities statewide with the purchase of a facility in Cherry Hill. Formerly Independence Rehabilitation Services, the new Bancroft NeuroRehab location expands access to workforce reentry programs for individuals with brain injuries and other neurological conditions. Additionally, the new space enables expert clinicians and staff to treat a more acute patient base. The Cherry Hill location joins three other facilities in Mount Laurel, Plainsboro and Brick, N.J. as part of the Bancroft NeuroRehab network of care.

BANCROFT ESTABLISHES AFFILIATED
MEDICAL PRACTICE, MARCROFT
MEDICAL ASSOCIATES
May 2016

In May, Bancroft established a first-of-its-kind affiliated medical practice, Marcroft Medical Associates. The Voorhees, N.J. — based practice specializes in neurology and psychiatry services for those with autism, intellectual and developmental disabilities and for individuals in need of neurological rehabilitation. Since its spring opening, Marcroft has served individuals enrolled in Bancroft’s programs, as well as the larger autism community.

BANCROFT FINALIZES SALE OF HADDONFIELD PROPERTY
June 2016

With the finalization of the sale of the Haddonfield, N.J. property, Bancroft made another stride toward its future in Mount Laurel. In June, The Borough of Haddonfield finalized its purchase of the two-parcel, 19.2 acre piece of land The Bancroft School has occupied for more than 100 years. The school will remain on the property until students and staff transfer to the new campus.

BANCROFT NEUROREHAB RECEIVES
HIGHEST RECOGNITION
June 2016

The Commission on the Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF) awarded Bancroft NeuroRehab and Bancroft’s Adult Supported Employment Programs a Three-Year Accreditation - its highest recognition - for demonstration of conformance with CARF’s performance standards. CARF’s team commended Bancroft’s leadership and staff members on the high-quality rehabilitation services provided.

BANCROFT REHABILITATION SERVICES RECEIVES GOLD SEAL OF APPROVAL FROM THE JOINT COMMISSION®
June 2016

Bancroft Rehabilitation Services receives full accreditation from The Joint Commission for the Lindens and Transitional Campus Residences Programs. Joint Commission accreditation signifies compliance with the highest national standards for safety and quality of care, and a strong organizational commitment to the continuous quality improvement initiatives that define best practices.

In July 2004, Randy Welsh was suffering from an inoperable brain tumor and was nearing the end of his life. Joanne and Raymond Welsh were dealing with something no parent should ever have to face. And yet, as a member of Bancroft’s Board of Trustees, Ray Welsh found himself also concerned about the future of Bancroft, where Randy and so many others received the care and services they needed.

At that time, Ray Welsh and Robert Martin reached out to Toni Pergolin for a conversation on how she might help. That conversation would mark the start of a series of events that not only saved Bancroft from closing its doors, but ushered in a new era of growth and service, thanks to Ray Welsh and his wife Joanne.

Ray Welsh was known for many things. Among them were his impeccable style, joy for life, business acumen, winning smile, the famous twinkle in his eye and a solid commitment to the causes and people he loved. But what few know is that Ray and Joanne Welsh made a significant donation to Bancroft in the early 2000s to invest in a new management team with Toni Pergolin as CFO, in the hopes of turning Bancroft around. For months, the Board and management team worked tirelessly to stabilize the organization financially. Randy Welsh had passed away by that time and although the Welsh family did not need Bancroft services any more, Ray remained very actively involved. He worked selflessly, accompanying the staff to meetings with state officials, vendors, families and other key stakeholders.

After nine months of dedicated and deliberate work, Bancroft made progress...but it wasn’t enough. There just wasn’t enough time; Bancroft would have to close its doors. At this crucial moment, Ray Welsh chose to make another generous donation of an interest free loan. He shared that his investment was for the sons, daughters and family members that Bancroft served. It was made in support of the management team that was working so hard to lead the changes that were so desperately needed. Ray Welsh helped to save Bancroft so families could continue to have hope that their children would live fulfilling lives, like his son Randy did.

Bancroft’s turnaround took a full two years. As Bancroft was righted, it was expected that Ray might pull back from his deep level of action and advisement. He no longer had a personal reason to stay involved and he had certainly done more than any one person had for Bancroft. But Ray, true to his character, remained passionately immersed over the next 10 years, right up until the day he died.

This organization not only continues to exist today but is about to embark on the most exciting project in its history because of Ray and Joanne Welsh. The impact of the Welsh’s incredible generosity as donors and Ray’s tireless support and leadership as a member and chairman of the Board of Trustees and Bancroft Development Committee for nearly 25 years is a legacy that will continue to make a difference for many years to come. Ray Welsh was truly a one-of-a-kind, sterling individual who will be remembered by the staff, families and persons served at Bancroft with gratitude and reverence always.
Family Executive Council

The Family Executive Council (FEC) was established in 2015 as a way to engage parents, siblings, grandparents and guardians with Bancroft at the highest levels of the organization. Meeting several times a year to discuss Bancroft’s strategic planning and key initiatives, the FEC learns about challenges and opportunities within the organization directly from leadership.

Now 33 families are members of the FEC, serving as ambassadors for Bancroft in many ways. Last year, they personally raised over $250,000 to support, sustain and enhance the 30 programs Bancroft currently offers. Beginning with an annual gift of $5,000, Council members act as ambassadors by supporting events, serving on committees, volunteering, advocating at the state and federal level, and providing suggestions on how to further ensure the sustainability of their loved one’s care.

For more information about joining the Family Executive Council, please contact Laura Chiappetta, Director of Annual and Family Giving, by calling 856-348-1199 or e-mailing laura.chiappetta@bancroft.org.

Friends of Bancroft

The Friends of Bancroft is a group of young professionals committed to supporting Bancroft by promoting the Bancroft organization, goals and mission, donating time through volunteerism, raising funds for Bancroft programs through donations and social events and increasing Bancroft’s involvement in the young professionals community.

The Friends of Bancroft was established in 1972 as a group of community volunteers dedicated to supporting Bancroft’s mission. In recent years, the group has changed to become a group for young professionals that contributes both financially and through volunteer services.

Members have planned creative social events to introduce other young professionals to Bancroft, served on Bancroft Boards and Committees, raised nearly $15,000 in support of Bancroft, participated in many of Bancroft’s signature events and volunteered for several special events, including fielding a softball team to challenge Bancroft’s Special Olympics team.

raig and Andrea Lewis of Central New Jersey led an idyllic suburban life. Married for nearly 30 years, the college sweethearts who met as sophomores at Rutgers University enjoyed their thriving careers – Craig, with PBL Biosciences in Piscataway and Andrea, with Owens & Minor, based in Allentown, Pa. Craig kept fit by riding his bicycle 30 miles each day, and spending autumn weekends cheering for his lifelong favorite team, the New York Jets. “Craig always spoiled me,” Andrea related with a laugh. “I never had to cook or clean and relied on Craig to handle all our domestic responsibilities.” The pair loved traveling all over the country with friends and family and spending time with their littlest family members, always babysitting and visiting.

That is, until May 24, 2010, when Craig suffered a brain stem stroke after one of his daily bike rides. The incident left Craig with little but his cognitive functioning, and so began the steep climb to regain any remaining control over his motor skills, speech and communication.

Throughout his recovery, Craig received services at several rehabilitation programs before he and Andrea discovered Bancroft NeuroRehab’s full continuum of treatment options for patients with traumatic brain injuries. Since enrolling, Craig has regained some communication function, and has been able to eat one meal per day, even enjoying his favorite treat – chocolate. Craig continues to receive physical, occupational and speech therapy at Bancroft NeuroRehab in Plainsboro, and his therapies have restored more independence than Andrea originally thought possible.

“Bancroft is a truly innovative program and I thank our lucky stars we’re able to participate,” she commented. “Craig continues to make small gains and I attribute that to the therapy he receives at Bancroft. I especially love his physical therapist Yvonne who pushes Craig to his limits, which he needs. He has also made some new gains in speech.”

Recently, the Lewis' generously donated two pieces of therapeutic equipment to Bancroft NeuroRehab in Plainsboro. The Omnicycle, a bicycle-like apparatus that helps patients like Craig regain physical strength and The OmniVR™ Virtual Rehabilitation System, a motion-powered interactive video system developed to meet the needs of medically complex patients, will aid in physical, occupational and speech therapies.

Almost 30 years ago, Karen and Jeff Harris recognized the need for their autistic son, Eric, to be in a more structured environment that would provide him the opportunity to obtain expanded treatment for a myriad of medical and behavioral issues that he was experiencing. After doing research and touring different organizations that could help Eric, Bancroft became the Harris’ top choice. What impressed them most was Bancroft’s Applied Behavioral Analysis services (ABA) and a pioneering program called Bancroft’s Young Autism Program.

Eric was accepted into The Bancroft School and the residential program in 1987. Soon after, his behaviors improved and more importantly, he no longer needed some of his medications.

Over the years, Bancroft’s direct care team worked with Eric to help him maximize his potential to live his best life. Before graduation Eric moved into Bancroft’s first on-campus apartment for individuals with autism. Happily, he thrived in this new environment and moved into a group home in the community. Eric improved so much that he was able to gain vocational jobs at the Button Hole, a laundry service, and also at BOSS, Bancroft’s office services operation. He joined Special Olympics and earned gold medals in both bowling and track.

Today, Eric is very proud of his accomplishments. Recently, Eric received the Independence Award at Bancroft’s holiday gala. Jeff and Karen are constantly amazed by Eric’s new skills and progress.

Eric’s accomplishments are just part of the Harris family story. Jeff and Karen decided to become involved with Bancroft as volunteers, committee members and ambassadors. Jeff has served on the Board of Trustees for 26 years. He and Karen are loyal donors and have increased the impact of their generosity through the matching gift program sponsored by Jeff’s former employer. Through their commitment to Bancroft they have inspired other families to become more involved, ensuring Bancroft will be here well into the future to help Eric and so many like him.

10 Years of Support — The O’Malleys

Robin and Joe O’Malley have been extraordinary supporters of Bancroft for over nearly 10 years. The relationship began through Joe’s work with Stewart Business Systems, a community partner with Bancroft since 1986. Stewart Business Systems has demonstrated a deep commitment to Bancroft’s mission, and when Joe became President of the company in 2007, he made it a priority to continue the relationship.

Robin and Joe have embraced the mission of Bancroft and have also helped to raise critically needed funds for the organization.

In 2009, Stewart Business Systems was honored by Bancroft with the Corporate and Community Leadership award at the Butterfly Ball, with Joe accepting the award on their behalf. Ever since then Robin has served as an integral member of the Ball committee. Robin has quite a flare for floral arranging, and together with a local florist, has worked to create the beautiful centerpieces for the tables at the Butterfly Ball for the past seven years. Stewart has also been donating the printing for the Ball, a generous in-kind donation covering both the invitations and event program book.
Among the many foundations and corporations that generously supported Bancroft in 2016, The Salem Health and Wellness Foundation and the Community Foundation of New Jersey deserve special recognition.

Adults with autism receiving specialized care at Bancroft’s new Health and Wellness Center at Lakeside now benefit from a state-of-the-art medical treatment and desensitization facility made possible by a $197,548 grant from The Salem Health and Wellness Foundation and the Community Foundation of New Jersey.

Adults with autism and other intellectual and developmental disabilities face immense challenges when they need medical intervention. A physical at the doctor’s office can incite fear, anxiety and aggressive behaviors. The Health and Wellness Center at Lakeside opens a world of opportunity and enables individuals to not only visit their physicians, but also to practice visiting the office as part of their desensitization therapy before medical treatment is necessary.

“The Health and Wellness Center at Lakeside represents the next wave of essential services Bancroft is able to provide thanks to our valued community partners,” said Toni Pergolin, Bancroft President and CEO. “As we continue to grow and expand throughout the region to meet an increased demand for autism services, we are grateful to be able to continue to enhance medical and residential options for families as well.”

“The Salem Health and Wellness Foundation has been delighted to partner with Bancroft to bring medical treatment and desensitization services directly to individuals who need them, improving access to care and quality of life for these adults,” said Brenda Goins, Executive Director of the Foundation.
We proudly present our vision for the Bancroft Campus at Mount Laurel. With 80-acres, we can expand to match the increasing demand for our services. With more classrooms, we can touch the lives of many more students. With an environment inspired by their challenges, we can provide spaces for learning, play, engagement, calm and respite.

With this vision, we are creating a regional destination of hope for families in the broader autism and special needs community.

ONE World-Class Campus

The Bancroft Campus at Mount Laurel has enabled us to imagine a world of possibilities, affording new opportunities to create dynamic and sensitive learning and living environments for our students and best-in-class work settings for our dedicated team.

The new 165,000-square-foot Bancroft School – 40,000 square feet larger than the present facility – will be equipped with the most advanced instructional, adaptive and therapeutic approaches, programs and technology.

Slated for a 2018 opening, the campus has been expressly designed to meet the distinct needs of special education students and their families, faculty and staff, all those served by Bancroft and the autism and special needs community.

The Bancroft Campus at Mount Laurel will be home to:
- The Bancroft School
- The Lindens Center for Autism
- Transitional Campus Residences
- The Activity Center
- Gymnasium and Activity Pool
- Playgrounds and Sensory Gardens
- Center for Assistive and Instructional Technology
- Family Resource Center
- Health and Wellness Facilities
The Bancroft School:
- Classroom space for 264 students
- Distinct elementary and high school/transition wings
- Sensory-sensitive classrooms and common space
- Vocational storefronts and training environments
- Independent life skills training facilities
- Enhanced music, art and dance classrooms
- Imaginative indoor and outdoor play and recreation
- Dedicated cafeteria
- Integrated ABA and clinical therapy suites
- Nursing and medical offices

The Lindens Center for Autism:
- Accommodations for 74 on-campus residents
- The Lindens Neurobehavioral Program
- Transitional Campus Residences
- Sensory-sensitive living environments
- Distinct assessment and ABA therapy space

hen Corey Chisolm came to Bancroft in August of 2013, his mom Raven Chaney, was at the end of her rope. Over the years, Corey had become progressively more aggressive. His behaviors had always been self-injurious, but had now increased to include lashing out and hurting others. Corey was in a constant state of crisis, throwing items when agitated and running away from home. He could barely function in his life and his actions affected the entire family. Corey’s sister Rosie no longer wanted to invite friends over after school because she was afraid of what Corey might do.

As he got bigger the behaviors escalated and it became more difficult to physically restrain him because Corey was so strong. His older brother KC tried to help Raven manage Corey by holding him while she tried to cook dinner. Life was not easy.

Many times Raven had to call the police to help. The last time the police came, they took Corey to a children’s psychiatric hospital where he was hospitalized for 90 days. There he was medicated to keep him sedated enough so that he didn’t hurt himself. They kept him in a padded room with a mattress on the floor and a nurse guarding the door. He received neither education nor socialization during his commitment. It was heartbreaking for Raven to see her child like that.

Raven looked for solutions and found Bancroft. Corey entered Bancroft’s Lindens Center for Autism, a highly effective residential program for children ages 5-21 with severe behaviors. Corey spent less than a year in the Lindens Center, where he was weaned off all of his meds and overcame acute behavioral challenges. With the help of Bancroft’s behavior therapists, he was able to reduce his problem behaviors and move out of the Lindens to a campus apartment.

Corey now attends The Bancroft School, where he is learning sight words and is expanding his expressive language and vocabulary. He is playing Special Olympics soccer, doing rigorous exercise, and learning to play basketball with his one-to-one Bancroft staff.

Raven and her family are so grateful to Bancroft for the great progress that Corey has made. His visits with his family have been so much better, and they enthusiastically look forward to his continued progress.

ONE Can Change the World Capital Campaign

We know ONE can change the world. Margaret Bancroft did it 134 years ago. Our teachers, therapists and support staff change the world daily. Bancroft students change the world when they master a new skill, are able to communicate or progress to a more independent setting.

The new Bancroft Campus at Mount Laurel will be the ONE to change the world, too.

So much more than a relocation of The Bancroft School and The Lindens Center for Autism, we’ve reimagined how a special needs campus should look and feel, ways services and programs should be offered and the many avenues through which we can serve more children and adults with autism than ever before.

The Bancroft Campus at Mount Laurel will truly be a destination of hope for children and their families to learn, grow, connect and expand their possibilities.

The ONE Can Change the World Campaign, chaired by Bancroft Trustee Adam Landau, will help make it a reality.

The campaign was officially launched in January 2016 and will continue through June 2018. The initial group of generous supporters made gifts and pledges totalling $7 million toward the $12 million goal by the end of fiscal year 2016 to support Bancroft’s expansion, especially with the new campus. We are grateful for the tremendous investment in the future from those who know us best and who have witnessed the impact of our programs and services.

We expect to launch the public phase of the campaign in fiscal year 2017 and need people like you to stand up and be the ONE – the ONE to make a difference.

Inspiring others — Jake Rothenberger

June is often a joyous time for many children and young adults as they experience graduation. It is a time filled with a sense of accomplishment and is a right of passage for families and friends to celebrate. For those who attend Mansion Elementary School in Audubon, N.J., graduation is especially festive. Around graduation time, there are parties and social engagements where children receive gifts and spend time with their friends. For the Rothenberger family, this was a momentous year as their son Jake was diagnosed with ASD (Autism Spectrum Disorder).

Graduation was a bittersweet time for the Rothenberger family. Jake is a happy boy who is loving and kind. But, he didn’t have close friends to speak of and was not invited to graduation parties. In light of this, the Rothenbergers decided that it would be a great idea to create a GoFundMe page where they told Jake’s story and raised money for autism programs and services. The Rothenbergers were pleasantly surprised by how many friends, neighbors, colleagues and family members contributed to their campaign.

Touched by the generosity, the Rothenbergers decided to donate 100% of the funds raised to Bancroft, their charity of choice.

Sports and Special Olympics — Ray Gunther

Ray Gunther began his relationship with Bancroft at the urging of his friend Sherry Berman-Robinson, the parent of a young woman served by Bancroft. Because Ray managed a memorial fund in honor of his son Chad, who passed away at the age of 28, Sherry asked him to help with the cost of uniforms for the Bancroft athletic programs. The Chad Gunther Memorial Fund gives financial support to worthy sports programs. “My son had a passion for athletics and wanted to give back” Ray mentioned.

During Ray’s first year as a volunteer and supporter of Bancroft, the fund provided uniforms and equipment for Bancroft’s adult Special Olympics teams. Ray also agreed to coach several teams including track, bowling and basketball. In addition, he gathered his friends from the Centennial Mill community in Voorhees, N.J., including Peter Oteri, Mark Lichterman, Donnie Lichterman, David Schwarz and Ron Krowiak to assist him with coaching the Special Olympics softball team.

“This group of men continually asks how they can be involved and are ready for anything. They are community-oriented and strive to help create ‘One World, For Everyone,’” stated Jeanne Bozicek, Life Enrichment Manager at Bancroft, who works regularly with this group.

In addition to equipment and uniforms, Ray and his friends also host two picnics for the softball team while organizing scrimmages against local softball teams. These men spend many hours coaching and chaperoning at summer game weekends and also provide transportation for individuals who need rides to games and practices. Ray Gunther summed up the commitment of he and his friends, “This is an opportunity for us older adults to give back to all that is dear to us.”

Work Projects Accomplished by Corporate Volunteers

Long-time volunteers from Columbia Bank assisted with the opening of a new group home in Cherry Hill, N.J. Employees installed the décor for the kitchen, arranged the bedrooms and stocked the bathrooms.

Employees from ARI and Holman Automotive Group volunteered and constructed raised garden beds for the horticulture program while another group of colleagues weeded the gardens at the school property in Haddonfield, N.J.

New volunteers from Philadelphia Insurance Companies brought their talents to projects including staining large wooden fences at Bancroft group homes in both Medford and Marlton, N.J.

First-time volunteers from Friedman LLP assisted individuals in the Lebensfeld program in making holiday crafts and decorations.

Volunteers from TD Bank assisted with the activities for The Bancroft School carnival, including serving water ice and helping with photos.
Events at Bancroft

Butterfly Ball

The 23rd Annual Butterfly Ball, Bancroft’s signature fundraising gala, reached new heights as 525 people reveled in an evening full of fun and inspiration. The Ball raised $560,000 in support of Bancroft’s mission. It was held for the second consecutive year at Vie in Philadelphia and embraced the theme “Imagine the Possibilities” for the future of Bancroft.

Following a performance by The Bancroft School’s drum circle group, 6abc Action News anchor Rick Williams kicked off the evening’s festivities. The evening was both a celebration of what the future holds for Bancroft at our new Mount Laurel Campus, and also a remembrance of one of Bancroft’s biggest and most loyal supporters – former Board Chair and Trustee, Ray Welsh, who passed away the week before the Ball.

Attendees were moved as they viewed a video about Daniel Meade, son of parents Tina and Pat Meade. The Meade’s shared their journey to find the best care for their son Daniel who had been diagnosed with autism as a young child. Daniel came to the Bancroft School in 2010 when he was 14 years old. Guests learned about his transition, progress and life at Bancroft as a residential student, which brought home the reason for giving. An exciting live appeal followed the showing of the video, raising a record $58,000! Pat, Tina, and their daughter Nicolette, were joined on stage by Daniel, who looked quite dapper in his tuxedo.
Golf Outing

Bancroft made the leap across the bridge this year, as the annual Golf Outing was held at the newly renovated Union League Golf Club at Torresdale. Golfers didn’t let a 45-minute downpour dampen their spirits, as they conversed in the beautiful clubhouse during the rain delay, and then got right back out on the course when the weather cleared.

It was an exciting day for everyone, especially Tyler Beeson, who was a last minute addition to the Conner Strong foursome. Tyler surprised everyone, including himself, by sinking a hole-in-one and winning a brand new Infinity Q50, compliments of Holman Infiniti.

Former NFL player and CBS sports director Beasley Reece flew in from Texas to entertain the guests and to help raise $8,000 at the live auction. The event raised over $167,000.

Bike for Bancroft

The 2nd Annual Bike for Bancroft was held again at Rowan College at Burlington County on a beautiful Sunday in October. About 400 cyclists rode through Burlington County on one of four different routes ranging in mileage from 10 – 65 miles. At the conclusion of the rides, cyclists were treated to a sumptuous meal catered by sponsor Kuzina by Sofia, a local Greek restaurant.

Families and their loved ones who attend Bancroft participated in the Family Fun Ride around the Rowan campus. In addition, the Family Fun Day entertained children and adults served by Bancroft with carnival games and rides. The event raised a record $144,000.

“Even in my belly, I knew the twins were going to have different personalities. My daughter was so active and her twin brother was much more mellow,” describes Ann Leahey, MD. “It wasn’t until Luke was diagnosed with autism when he was two that I realized just how accurate my premonitions would become.”

Ann and her husband David are both physicians and lived in Philadelphia when twins Luke and Erin were born. On weekends they would walk the stroller to the park and one day, decided to take a different route. Luke began to break down. Ann had noticed various missed milestones in the months leading up to this incident, but this particular reaction was her tipping point.

The family sought a specialist at Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia who confirmed an autism diagnosis. Luke’s behaviors, communication challenges, and intense need for pattern and familiarity had become overwhelming.

The family needed answers and a place to turn.

Luke’s specialist recommended Bancroft, and his world began to open up. He received in-home therapeutic ABA services through Bancroft when he was just two and a half.

“Luke’s therapists not only helped him, but they also taught us how to support Luke in his progress. They were so dedicated to Luke’s success, and they supported our whole family’s effort to navigate the world with our son,” says Ann.

Luke’s early intervention therapy helped decrease his behaviors and improve his ability to learn and communicate with his family and his environment.

Fast forward to 2016, and Luke is now 20 and thriving as a student in The Bancroft School’s Transitional Program. Every day, he strengthens his job and social skills as he works in the mail room alongside his peers. His smile lights up the room!

“Our journey has not been easy, but we have Bancroft to thank for so many happy moments we’ve shared with Luke,” Ann says. “Now, we can take family walks on the beach, ride the train, and enjoy each other. As Luke has grown up, he’s come to truly love the ocean and swimming down the shore,” says Ann.

“We know the day will come when we can no longer care for our son at home, and knowing we can rely on Bancroft to support him throughout his life has given us immeasurable hope and peace of mind.”
