

A Path Forward for Children in Crisis and Hope for Families

The Marciano family found hope for their son.

Unable to communicate his thoughts and feelings, Marcello's frustration led to years of self-injury and severe aggression toward his family. Unable to find adequate autism services in their home state, his parents turned to Bancroft's Lindens Neurobehavioral Program where he was provided with expert care to meet his unique needs.

The Lindens is a nationally-recognized behavioral stabilization program for children and youth with profound autism. Surrounded by a multidisciplinary support team providing 24/7 care, Marcello thrived and successfully transitioned into one of Bancroft's adult residential programs when he turned 21.

For many families,
Bancroft is the answer.
